In which UN MDG best fit (if apply) : ? : Eradicate extreme poverty and hunger

Who is benefited ? : About 10,000 elementary students and parents in Takamatsu.

Objective : JCI Takamatsu intended to produce ACTIVE CITIZENS to serve the community through this project.

Our goals follows...

(1) To create POSITIVE CHANGE on moral fiber of children in Takamatsu. Especially, to realize appreciation, compassion, importance of life, MOTTAINAI spirit and UN MDGs.

(2) To develop feasible and sustainable program that adults directly teach children about moral fiber in school.

(3) Members of JCI Takamatsu grow through execution of this project.

Overview : Since 2011, JCI Takamatsu created program that adults directly children about moral fiber in school and performed the program. In 2011 and 2012, program of food education was performed.

In this year, we developed three programs that are food education, moral education and education about UN MDGs. We spread the know-how of performing the programs to all members in JCI Takamatsu. We requested for participation to all elementary schools in Takamatsu under support of Board of Education of Takamatsu. Members of JCI Takamatsu taught children at 10 elementary schools in Takamatsu. This program is performed 15 times to 867 children.

[Food Education Program] For Second Grade Children

This program intend to learn application to foods, compassion to farmers and importance of life and spirit of MOTTAINAI. Children learn about process from rice field to dinner table and think about life of plants, effort of farmers and love of parents.

[Moral Education Program] For Third and Fourth Grade Children

This program intend to spread moral education to local community. Through this program, children appreciate support of many people and recognize about relationship between other people. They realize social norm by thinking about way of life by themselves.

[Education about UN MDGs Program] For Fifth and Sixth Grade Children

This program intended to promote action for UN MDGs. Children understand UN MDGs and that they are also a part of international community. They learn how to contribute to United Nations through JCI to success UN MDGs.

Results : By this project, we effectively increase ACTIVE CITIZENS who serve to the local community. We requested for participation to all elementary schools in Takamatsu. Members of JCI Takamatsu taught children at 10 elementary schools in Takamatsu. This program is performed 15 times to 867 children.

Local network between citizens, teachers in school and members of JCI Takamatsu was developed because of participation of this project.

We developed children and citizens who have interest in moral education. The local community will grow when they act as ACTIVE CITIZENS.

In the next year, the movement will spread if not only members of JCI Takamatsu but also volunteers of citizens participate this project.

Recently, ministry of education plans to develop classes by collaborating with citizens. In the future the program in this project will be the official program.

Request of participating of this project for members of JCI Takamatsu should be earlier.

We should propose the more new program that is difficult for teachers in schools through deep communication between local organization and schools and JCI Takamatsu.

We can spread this movement if volunteers in Takamatsu participate this program.
